STATEMENT

In 1984 in this pamphlet I wrote:

"A trial judge should make sure that persons involved in disputes have a place where they are fairly heard and where a decision will be reached which is based on the law and which is reasonably prompt."

"A fair hearing requires that each side be fully listened to and that each argument be honestly considered. A decision based on the law means that the judge must take pains to discover the correct law . . . and then must apply it to the case at hand. A reasonably prompt decision requires that all of the cases pressing to be heard in court be managed properly so that . . . some time is allotted to thoughtful decision-making."

"A judge must attempt to carry out the will of the people, as expressed through the legislature, while following the will of the founders of our state and nation, as expressed in our state and federal constitutions. Sometimes a law will conflict with the constitution. Although it happens infrequently, in such a case it is the duty of the judge to say so."

I was retained in that election, and have worked hard since then to justify the voters' confidence. I believe I have. Poll results of Alaska peace officers rated me among the highest and poll results of Alaska lawyers rated me the highest of all judges standing for retention in 1990. I am very proud of these assessments, and ask again for the opportunity to continue in this position.

STATEMENT

I appreciate this opportunity to address you on the subject of my retention, to thank you for the support you have shown me since my appointment in 1975, and to report briefly upon one of the features of your court system with which I have been involved for a majority of this term of office.

That feature is called "Fast Track." It was implemented by the Alaska Supreme Court in 1986 to reduce the backlog of pending Superior Court civil cases by resolving a majority of them more swiftly. It is now possible for a plaintiff, if he chooses to enforce his rights under the Rule, to bring an "average" Superior Court suit to trial before one of three "Fast Track" judges within nine months from service of process. It was my privilege to have been directed by the Third Judicial District Presiding Judge to begin the "Fast Track" experiment in 1985 prior to the adoption of the formal delay-reduction rule. After five years' experience with it I am pleased to report on behalf of your court system that "Fast Track" works.

One of "Fast Track's" desirable features is an emphasis upon settlement before trial. As early in the case as the litigants wish, the Court conducts informal settlement discussions. A very high percentage of these conferences produce settlement, saving the litigants from the costly process of final preparation and trial.

It has been a challenging and rewarding term of office. I earnestly solicit your support of my retention.

District Court Judge Larry Zervos has been appointed to a Superior Court Judgeship position in Sitka. Due to this appointment, he is no longer a judicial retention candidate for Judicial District 4.

STATEMENT

I have appreciated the opportunity to serve the people of the State of Alaska on the district court bench for the last two years. My priorities during this term of service have been to help settle cases before trial when possible to save time and money for the parties, to improve judicial services to rural communities and to approach each case fairly and impartially. I am proud of the qualified recommendation of the Alaska Judicial Council and the evaluations of the Alaska Bar Association and the Alaska Peace and Probation Officers.

I hope to continue to serve the people of this state.
