STATEMENT:

Four years ago, Jan Faiks promised to work for an ethics code, a session limit, road improvements in the district, support for education and an Alaska Hire law. Her campaign promised, "She's Effective!"

Jan kept those promises.

She wrote and sponsored the ethics code which became law. She supported the 120 day session limit. She coordinated municipal and State road projects to make maximum impact in our district, especially on the Hillside. As Co-chairman of Senate Finance, she fought hard to assure adequate funding for education, from grade school through University. She wrote and sponsored the Alaska Hire law.

In all, more than twenty of Jan's bills became law. Laws to provide greater access to parks; to aid victims of rape and child abuse; laws to benefit people rather than bureaucrats.

The next four years will present difficult decisions. We must make substantial cuts in the State budget. We must diversify our economy. We must defend the Permanent Fund from legislative raids. We must avoid imposing taxes until all fat is cut from government.

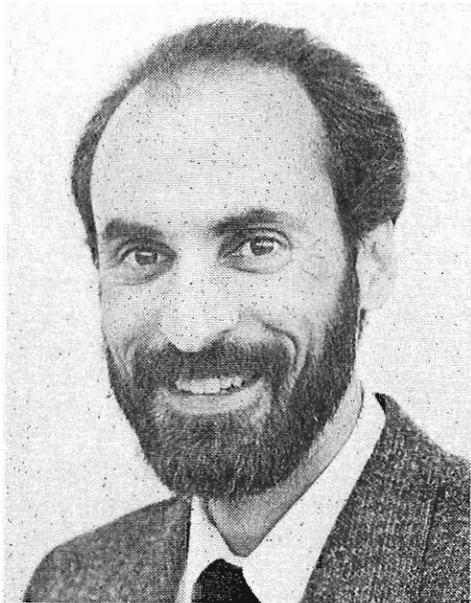

Jan Faiks is uniquely qualified to do the tough job. She's already proven that.

- Chairman, Senate Rules, 1983-1984.
- Co-Chairman, Senate Finance, 1985-1986.
- B.A., Mathematics, Florida State.
- Published author, two books.
- Named "Outstanding Secondary Educator in America" during 9½ year teaching career.
- Math and engineering aide for NASA.
- Awarded Bella Hammond's "First Lady Volunteer Award," 1981.
- Board of Directors, Common Sense for Alaska and Anchorage Chamber of Commerce.
- Successful business woman, company owner.

STATEMENT:

NO STATE PERSONAL INCOME TAX

I have in the past, and will continue to fight against the reinstatement of this onerous unapportioned direct tax.

LESS GOVERNMENT

Today's politicians have a nasty habit of ignoring the Constitutionally protected rights of the people. Laws are passed for the financial gain of the few to the detriment of the many. Our over zealous lawmakers consistently over step the bounds of legitimate government and unconstitutionally regulate every aspect of our daily lives. The specific purpose of the Constitutions of the United States and the State of Alaska is to limit government and to provide the maximum protection for our lives, liberty and property. I solemnly pledge to fight for the preservation of your inalienable rights.

BUDGET BY THE PEOPLE

Take total state revenues per calendar year; divide that amount by total registered voters; assign that number of dollars (credits) to each voter. Legislators would annually provide lists of projects and programs together with anticipated cost projections and the need for said programs. Beside each project or program a space would be provided for the voters to enter an amount to be expended for the program and/or project. This procedure would re-establish the people's control of government spending.

"MY PLEDGE TO YOU"

I solemnly pledge to fight for the preservation of our Constitution and your inalienable God given rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Your support and your vote are much appreciated.

SPECIAL INTERESTS: To be a good listener and a fair arbitrator of differing viewpoints. To promote individual freedom and leave some small part of this world a better place than I found it.

OTHER: Alaska Hire

STATEMENT:

The Problem:

Currently, over $677 million in Alaska wages are being paid to non-Alaskans.

It's Effect:

When our economy was booming, the primary influence was state expenditures of around $300 million annually for Anchorage construction projects.

If half of the $677 million currently being sent outside were spent in Anchorage, it would similarly influence our economy.

The worst offenders of the Alaska Hire Policy work their crews 7 days a week for 6 weeks or more and then give sufficient time off to travel from the North Slope to Texas.

Concerned companies work their crews one week on and one week off. It's too expensive to fly back to Texas once a week. One other major difference. Long slope stays spawn fatigue, home sickness and careles-ness. Consequently, work related accidents are far more frequent than they are with work crews working one week on and one week off.

Solution:

All states have safety laws and our state clearly has the constitutional right (for safety reasons) to pass legislation requiring week on and week off schedules for remote work camps. This is one example of several constitutional methods of promoting Alaska Hire.

Veco is by far the states largest importer of cheap outside labor. My opponent Jan Faiks, has protected their ability to continue this practice.

Veco and their associates thanked her with $25,000.00 (twenty-five thousand dollars) for her campaign.

Your vote can help solve our economic problems.

Sincerely,
Ray Metcalfe

STATEMENT:

Most Alaskan voters are registered as Independents, and do not vote along party lines. They vote for the person, not for the party. I believe voters should give greater consideration to a legislative candidate's party affiliation. If a majority of Republicans is elected, the House will almost always organize as an essentially Republican group; the reverse is true if a majority of Democrats is elected.

My point is that in voting for an individual legislative candidate, a voter casts a ballot for more than just the individual. The party affiliation of the individual is also receiving a vote, in the sense that the candidate can, and should be, expected to organize the House with the other elected members of their party.

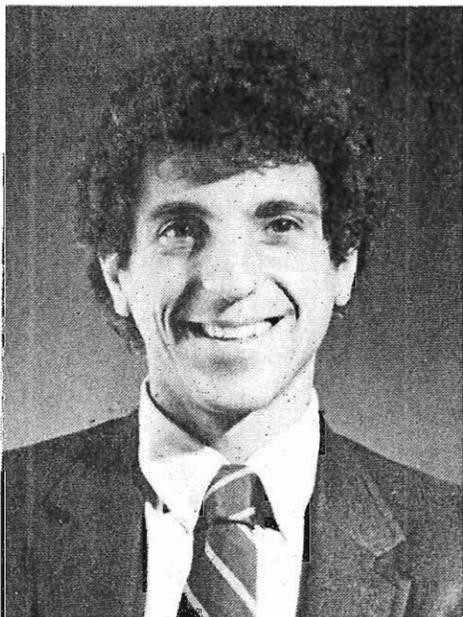

A Republican House can be expected to actively promote resource development by the private sector, reasonable environmental regulation, dedicated efforts to trim the size and scope of state government, strong resistance to new or increased taxes, enhanced efforts at strengthening our criminal justice system, and a basic orientation toward encouraging job creation by private enterprise. I believe a Democrat House can be expected to be far less committed to these goals, and in some cases committed to their opposite. And this is the case even if a number of individual Democrats might subscribe to most of the principals set out above.

In this critical election, I believe Alaskan voters should give serious consideration to which party represents their interests, and to voting for the legislative candidate of that party.

STATEMENT:

The most pressing need of our economy is predictability over the next few years. Our state government has spent its way into becoming a central player in the state's economy, and a sudden withdrawal of state spending would be devastating. It will be essential for the next legislature to build confidence in the economy by announcing, and adhering to, a planned steady reduction in spending at a rate which the economy can withstand, responsibly getting us to a long term sustainable level of spending. Only with such a plan should the people of Alaska accept any uses of one-time revenues, savings, or other temporary measures.

As before, I will fight for responsible economic development. I represent the values which Alaskans cherish and need, including the need for jobs and development, and the outdoor and recreational values we all enjoy. Our government needs people with strong financial experience and common sense to forcefully and properly represent our citizens and guide our state.

STATEMENT:

Alaska's potential is as great now as when it first became a state. This potential does not fluctuate with the price of oil; our people are talented and hard-workers, and with quality leadership we can work cooperatively through the present budget crisis. A willingness to rethink our priorities, to act reasonably for today, and think creatively for our future is essential.

We operated successfully as a state before the oil wealth and we can do it again. Supporting diverse industries will allow more tourism, timber, fishing, etc. dollars into our economy and make wider use of our varied workforce. Future development must be carefully planned so that our quality of life is preserved and the economy enhanced.

As a representative for the people of District 10 for the past two years, I worked cooperatively with other legislators from the District to bring home funding for critical projects such as roads, parks, and water and sewer improvements. It is this type of teamwork that crosses political boundaries and focuses on the needs of the people that is needed to ride out the budget crisis.

Open communication among the various branches of government, special interest groups, industry and businesses will generate creative ideas on such issues as subsistence, insurance, resident hire, and energy planning. Cooperation and leadership is needed at every level of government to fully realize this state's potential.

For the past two years I have had the privilege of representing you in the Alaska State Legislature. Over 5,000 of you have corresponded with my office. Your valuable input and advice have guided me in representing your views in Juneau. During this past session I have proudly supported legislation important to all of us, such as CSHB-522, Neighborhood Speed Zones, requires the Department of Public Safety to consult with community councils in setting speed zones; CSHB-530, Refinancing Home Loans, allows AHFC refinancing of homes at lower interest rates; CSHB-155, Rights of Tenants and Mobile Home Dwellers, requires the operator of a mobile home park to give tenants 180 days notice of change in land use and gives the tenant first right of refusal for 90 days from time of land conversions to condominium development; CSSB-367, Alaska Hire, creates resident hire preferences for work on public works projects in zones of high unemployment; CSHB-28, Permanent Fund, saves $1.1 billion for deposit to principal of permanent fund; CSSB-171, Capital Projects and Student Loans, appropriates $61 million for student loan programs and approximately $25 million for District 10 capital road projects, including Lake Otis Parkway, 36th Ave., 88th & Old Seward, East 80th St., and U.A.A./A.C.C. buildings and security.

I voted against CSHB-500, Fiscal Year 87 Operating Budget, predicting its passage would produce a fiscal crisis!

Many challenges are before us. With your continued counsel and support I remain confident of Alaska's future. Thank you for the opportunity to serve you.

STATEMENT:

The days of lavish spending are over. We can no longer afford lawmakers who are locked into special interests, either inside or outside state government. We need legislators who have a balanced approach to both our people needs and to resource development, and who aren't afraid to take a stand.

We should update and re-enact the Industrial Incentive Act of the 1960s. We must provide the political leadership necessary to assist the private sector to get the Gas Pipeline started. This one project will provide over 4,000 construction jobs and generate over $500 million in revenues per year.

We must not raise oil taxes, as 85 mineral and petroleum exploration companies have already abandoned the state. We should sue the federal government for banning export of Alaska's oil. We must recognize those who champion Alaska hire and "made in Alaska" products.

I strongly support the Anchorage Crime Commission's recommendations, which have met a deaf ear in Juneau over the past six years. Especially, I will fight against permissive drug laws.

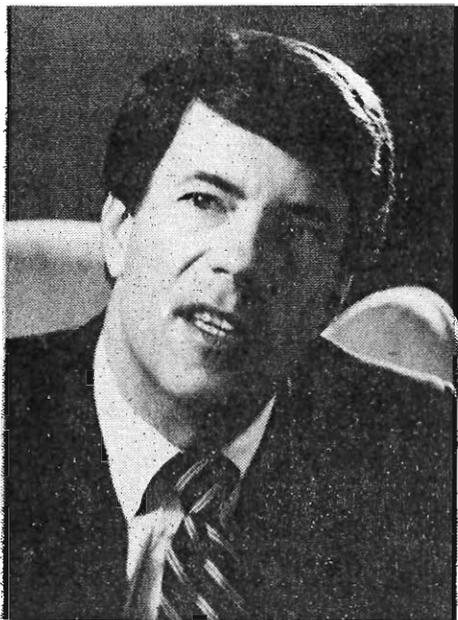

The skyrocketing cost of insurance is hurting everyone, and many businesses are being forced to shut down or risk million dollar law suits. The attorneys in the legislature last session crippled the attempt to limit jury awards for non-physical injuries. I will fight to make that change.

We won't solve our revenue shortfall by wringing our hands. It will take energy, imagination and guts. Let's go to work!

STATEMENT:

I have been privileged to work with many of you in Senate District G and throughout Anchorage for the past twelve years. We have accomplished many things. Some of them are:

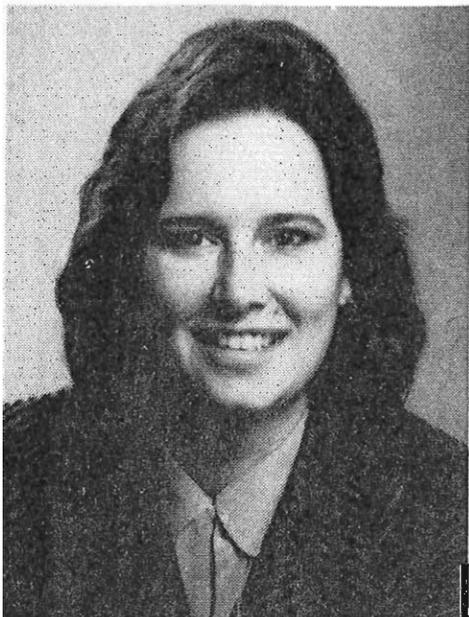

- Creation of the Alaska Housing Finance Corporation. This agency has been responsible for a significant number of the homes and jobs in Anchorage.
- Creation of the Alaska Industrial Development Authority. This agency has helped finance, at no public cost, most of the commercial buildings constructed during the 1980's.
- Road improvements have been continually made in the district since the 1970's. This year we received more road construction money than any other district in Anchorage.
- Law enforcement has been enhanced significantly. We have restricted the insanity defense, strengthened laws protecting our children and increased the penalties for drunk driving.
- In addition, we have reformed the legislative process by enacting a new ethics law, opened the committee process, mandated public notices and restricted legislative contracts. I have taken a strong personal stand in favor of enforcement of the open meetings law.

A great deal more remains to be done. The slow down in our economy requires the Legislature take innovative steps to create jobs. Increased foreign trade, effective local hire legislation, increased tourism and stabilization of the mortgage and lending markets are a few of the issues the Legislature must deal with. It has been a privilege to serve the people of Anchorage. I would appreciate your continued support.

STATEMENT:

I believe that all Government should be limited. Many of the problems of excessive spending and misdirection which plague the federal government also haunt our state government. Too often Alaska's state government is unresponsive to our basic needs. Few will argue it is inefficient, certainly it is too big.

State government should focus on providing basic services needed by all the people. It should provide safe streets, free from the kind of violent crime we read of daily in the newspapers. It should provide quality education to prepare our children for an everchanging world. It should support sound economic development which fosters a productive and competitive economy. It should provide adequate transportation facilities, especially in the state's largest city where congested traffic threatens our quality of life.

By concentrating on these basics, state government can both provide essential services and shrink the profligate spending which burdens us with too much government and saps our resources.

STATEMENT:

The Fifteenth Alaska Legislature will be faced with difficult budget decisions as oil prices continue to drop. Many of us have stated that government should be limited and only do for people that which they cannot do for themselves. Those words must now become action. Dependency on government must be replaced with self reliance.

Alaska can no longer afford the luxury of an operating budget five times the national average. Everyone agrees that budget cuts are necessary until programs of personal interest are threatened. If we are to protect the permanent fund and continue without a state income tax, then each of us must assume individual responsibility for programs or services which can no longer be provided by the state.

I support—

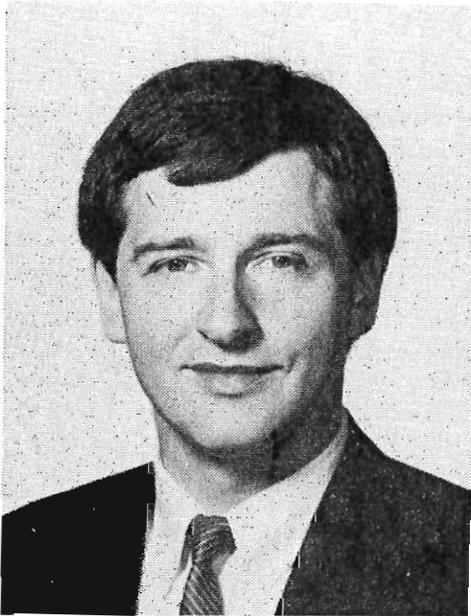

- Open, honest state government.
- No new taxes without voter approval.
- Stable tax structure for oil companies.
- Opening the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge for oil and gas exploration.
- Capital projects which will not only provide jobs but also access to our natural resources.
- A more equitable method for funding education.
- Law enforcement personnel sufficient to adequately protect Alaskan citizens.
- Treatment and penalties for juveniles that will discourage criminal activity.
- Diversifying our economy by encouraging new business and industry and exploring new markets for Alaskan products.

It has been a privilege to serve as your Representative. I will continue to listen and respond to your concerns as we approach a critical period in Alaska's history.

OTHER: Author 1986 Alaska Hire Law

STATEMENT:

I am running for State House because as a life-long resident of Spenard, I want our community to have better representation in the legislature.

I will use my years of experience as a financial auditor and legislative finance aide to work to impose discipline on state government and develop a stable, diversified economy for Alaska. I want to ensure that this state adopts sound fiscal policies to prevent any need for the reimposition of the state income tax.

As a public interest attorney, I will use my skills to make the legislative process as open as possible.

As the author of the new Alaska Hire Law, I will continue my work to develop effective constitutional Alaska Hire laws to protect Alaskan jobs for Alaskans.

As a homeowner I want to see that the citizens of District Eleven get their fair share of state appropriations to keep our property taxes down.

As your representative I will listen to your concerns and represent your interests. As a legislator I will also support and work for:

- Protecting and strengthening the Permanent Fund.
- Funding for Anchorage Accelerated Roads Program including Spenard Road and West 36th Avenue improvements.
- Cleanup of Fish Creek and other Anchorage waterways.
- Comprehensive victims-of-crimes rights legislation.
- Long range transportation planning and development.
- Protection of the rights of working Alaskans.

My family and I have lived in Spenard over thirty years. I'm serious about Spenard. Let's make District Eleven the best it can possibly be.

STATEMENT:

JOBS-JOBS-JOBS

Roger Jenkins believes the credo of Alaskans First. The people who call Alaska home are the people who build Alaska. Alaska hire should be the primary employment practice of business and government because it makes good sense. State investment goals should help create jobs.

PERMANENT FUND

Roger Jenkins believes the Permanent Fund must be protected. No portion of the Fund should be spent without a public vote. Alaska law allows 15% of the fund to be invested in Alaska. The time has come for Permanent Fund investments to support "Alaska Hire."

ALASKA'S FUTURE

Roger Jenkins believes oil income should be put to work diversifying Alaska's economy and developing our other natural resources. Roger believes we must look for long term energy solutions for the Railbelt area. He will fight to keep land disposal programs alive.

WAR ON CRIME

Roger Jenkins believes we need an elected Attorney General and an elected State Treasurer to conduct independent investigations of state government. Roger will reintroduce his package of anti-prostitution legislation to clean up the streets of Spennard.

TAXPAYER RIGHTS

Roger Jenkins believes property taxpayers appealing assessments should not have to prove the city is wrong; but instead the assessor should have to prove he is right. Roger will reintroduce legislation to protect taxpayers rights.

MY PLEDGE

To be the kind of legislator you would be—honest and above board. The next legislature will shape Alaska's future for years to come. I will make certain Spennard's voice is heard and counted.
