STATEMENT:
Today, too many Alaskans feel abandoned by their government.

Families are getting crushed by rising costs. Crime is too high in our communities. Schools are failing our children. Businesses are fighting through red tape and high energy prices while young Alaskans leave the state looking for opportunity somewhere else. Government grows larger every year while delivering less.

As Governor, I will change course and put Alaska back on offense.

I will unleash aggressive resource development, expand access to land and housing, lower energy costs, build infrastructure, and create an economy where workers, tradesmen, miners, fishermen, small businesses, and families thrive again.

I will cut bureaucracy, restore accountability, back law enforcement, defend constitutional rights, strengthen election integrity, and rebuild trust in government.
Alaska needs leadership that makes decisions, solves problems, and delivers results instead of excuses.

As a retired Air Force Lieutenant Colonel, commercial pilot, and former Mayor of Anchorage, I have spent my life leading in high pressure environments where failure carries real consequences. I understand responsibility, mission focus, and getting the job done.

Alaska’s best days are ahead of us, but they will not happen by accident. We will build them. We will grow this state again, restore opportunity, and create a stronger future for the next generation.
