Position Statement

Ryan Sheldon is a fourth-generation Alaskan running for State Senate District O to bring practical, hands-on leadership to Juneau. As an entrepreneur, Ryan has started and operated several businesses, currently working as a property developer, personally performing the labor on his own projects.

Ryan's approach to policy matches his approach to building: show up, do the work, and produce results. He is a strong advocate for strategic energy infrastructure, including advancing the Alaska gas line and hydroelectric projects, to lower the cost of living for families from Valdez to Wasilla to Anderson. He believes Alaska's future depends on giving young Alaskans the opportunity to build a life here, the way his family has for four generations. To attract young families we must further focus on and prioritize education that benefits all Alaskans, raising up the next generation of leaders through a healthy, well funded and committed education system which prioritizes fundamental learning such as reading, writing and arithmetic; skills that can be utilized in disciplines from the trades to college.

Ryan brings real experience to state government, currently serving on the Talkeetna Water/Sewer Board and having served as Chief of Staff in the Alaska Legislature, and numerous AKGOP positions; experience that taught him how to deliver for constituents. He is active in his community, volunteering with Covenant House and Church on the Rock worship team.

Ryan and his wife, Molly, made their home in Talkeetna. He asks for your vote to bring Alaskan-made solutions to Juneau.
